NTP Radioisotopes & Nuclear Medicine

- NTP Radioisotopes, a subsidiary of Necsa, is a leading global manufacturer and supplier of the key medical radioisotopes used in nuclear medicine procedures, and produces these essential radioisotopes for all the nuclear medicine departments in South Africa's public and private healthcare sector.

- Nuclear medicine is a minimally invasive practice that uses small amounts of radioactive isotopes, mostly for medical imaging procedures to allow physicians to view the structure and the function of organs or systems in the human body. Tiny amounts of labelled radioisotopes (also known as radiopharmaceuticals) are ingested or injected into the patient. The labelling (pairing the isotope with a pharmaceutical agent) allows physicians to target specific areas or systems in the body, and exclude other systems. As these doses move through the body they emit low levels of gamma rays, which can be detected by gamma cameras such as those used in SPECT (single-photon emission computerized tomography) imaging.
- Unlike X-rays and other radiological imaging, nuclear medicine allows doctors to observe the bodily functions right down to a molecular level. As a result, imaging obtained from nuclear medicine often allows a disease to be identified at a much earlier stage, before anatomical changes become visible. The same technology also allows physicians to target and treat certain conditions using certain medical radioisotopes.
- South Africa currently has the largest body of nuclear medicine practitioners and nuclear medicine centres in sub-Saharan Africa, including nuclear medicine departments at 12 tertiary and quaternary state hospitals including Steve Biko Academic Hospital in Pretoria, Charlotte Maxeke Johannesburg Academic Hospital, Tygerberg Academic Hospital in the Western Cape, and Inkosi Albert Luthuli Central Hospital in Durban.
- Globally, demand for nuclear medicine is being driven by increases in the incidence of cancers and cardiovascular disease, and by the growing number of new applications for medical radioisotopes including the study of neurological and psychiatric diseases. Medical radioisotopes are used in a number of branches of medicine including oncology, cardiology, neurology, and endocrinology specifically thyroid conditions. Around 90% of all nuclear medicine procedures performed each year are for diagnosis or evaluation.
- Underpinning the nuclear medicine market is one key medical radioisotope: molybdenum-99 (Mo-99). The daughter product of Mo-99, technetium-99m (Tc-99m) is used in over 40 million nuclear medicine procedures every year. Tc-99m is produced in a medical device called a 'generator', which contains a feedstock of Mo-99 from which patient doses of Tc-99m are eluted as required.
- Because the isotopes have short half-lives – just 66 hours for Mo-99 and only six hours for Tc-99m – they cannot be stored or stockpiled, and must be produced daily in order to meet clinical demand.
- There are currently fewer than five sites in the world capable of producing commercial volumes of Mo-99. NTP Radioisotopes is one of these; and currently, with global partnership agreements, supplies between a quarter and a third of the entire global demand of Mo-99. The group's role has become even more significant with the 2016 exit of the Canadian NRU reactor from production.

- NTP manufactures two other important medical radioisotopes, iodine-131 (I-131) and beta-emitter lutetium-177 n.c.a. (Lu-177), which have both diagnostic and therapeutic applications. NTP also produces a number of non-reactor based medical radioisotopes, and pioneered the use of cyclotron-based FDG F-18 in South Africa, which is used for cancer diagnosis.

Where-

Ps = Points scored for price of tender under consideration

Pt = Price of tender under consideration; and

Pmin = Price of lowest acceptable tender.

5.4.2 The following table must be used to calculate the score out of 20 for B-BBEE:

BBEE Status Level of Contributor	Number of Points
1	20
2	18
3	14
4	12

5.4.7 The points scored must be rounded off to the nearest two decimal places.

5.4.8 Subject to sub regulation (9) and regulation 11, the contract must be awarded to the tenderer scoring the highest points.

5.4.9 If the price offered by a tenderer scoring the highest points is not market-related, the

 - iii. If the tenderer scoring the second highest points does not agree to a market-related price, negotiate a market-related price with the tenderer scoring the third highest points or cancel the tender.
- b) If a market-related price is not agreed as envisaged in paragraph (b) (iii), the organ of state must cancel the tender.

5.5 90/10 preference point system for acquisition of goods or services with Rand value above R50 million

5.5.1 The following formula must be used to calculate the points out of 90 for price in respect of a tender with a Rand value above R50 million, inclusive of all applicable taxes:

Ps = Points scored for price of tender under consideration;

Pt = Price of tender under consideration; and

Pmin = Price of lowest acceptable tender.

5.5.2 The following table must be used to calculate the points out of 10 for B-BBEE:

B-BBEE Status Level of Contributor	Number of Points
1	10
Non-compliance contributor	0

5.5.3 A tenderer must submit proof of its B-BBEE status level of contributor

5.5.4 A tenderer failing to submit proof of B-BBEE status level of contribution or is a non-compliant contributor of B-BBEE may not be disqualified, but –

- a) May only score points out of 90 for price; and
- b) Scores 0 points out of 10 for B-BBEE.

- 5.5.5 A tenderer may not be awarded points for B-BBEE status level of contributor if the tender documents indicate that the tenderer intends subcontracting more than 25% of the value of the contract to any other person not qualifying for at least the points that the tenderer qualifies for, unless the intended subcontractor is an EME that has the capability to execute the subcontract.
- 5.5.6 The points scored by a tenderer for B-BBEE contribution in terms of sub regulation (2) must be added to the points scored for price under sub regulation (1).
- 5.5.7 The points scored must be rounded off to the nearest two decimal places.
- 5.5.8 Subject to sub regulation (9) and regulation 11, the contract must be awarded to the tenderer scoring the highest points.
- 5.5.9 If the price offered by a tenderer scoring the highest points is not market-related, the organ of state may not award the contract to that tenderer.
- a) The organs of state may –
- i. Negotiate a market-related price with the tenderer scoring the highest points or cancel the tender.
 - ii. If the tenderer does not agreed to a market-related price, negotiate a market-related price with the tenderer scoring the second highest points or cancel the tender.
 - iii. If the tenderer scoring the second highest points does not agreed to a market-related price, negotiate a market-related price with the renderer scoring the third highest points or cancel the tender.
- b) If a market-related price is not agreed as envisaged in paragraph (b)(iii), the organ of state must cancel the tender.
